REGISTRATION TO PREVENT ANNEXATION ELECTION NOW BEGINS IN GLENDALE

WARNING OF THE GLENDALE DAILY PRESS IS SIGNAL FOR RISING OF THOSE NOT ON THE BOOKS TO ASSIST; SENTIMENT
AGAINST ANNEXATION CON-TINUES EXPRESSION

REGISTER NOW AGAINST ANNEXATION REGISTRARS:

Mrs. Grace E. Holman . . . 533 West California
Mrs. M. E. Myton . . . 612 East Broadway
L. W. Ball . . . 363 West Elk
Mrs. Harry Greenwalt . . . 408 Oak
Mrs. F. M. Ryan . . . 332 West Acacia
F. S. MacDougall . . . 453 West Colorado

Registrations of all those opposed to annexation began bright and early today, owing to the exposure of the Glendale Daily Press yesterday, that the only way to shut off any annexation election was through increasing the list of registered voters.

If the registration is kept moving upward the work of those securing signatures on the petition to call an annexation election becomes endless until the total registration possible is achieved.

Those who do not like the delay of voting at the polls can save themselves that inconvenience by slipping down to the nearest registrar, or coming to the Glendale Daily Press in passing. The registrar will be here, according to the demand.

The telephone and by letter protest against the work of the annexationists in Glendale continues to come to the Glendale Daily Press. Very few communications have been received from people favoring annexation. These have been printed.

Mrs. K. H. Scribner and Mrs. C. G. Dentry of 544 West Vine street, were the first to call at the Glendale Daily Press office this morning to register for the purpose of assisting in heading off any election on the question.

"I think it perfectly abominable," said Mrs. Scribner. "Of course we need sewers, but we can get them before Los Angeles gives them to us. Los Angeles has not enough sewers for its own needs."

The registrar will call on these ladies this evening to make their registration. Like courtesy will be extended on request.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase, 400 Riverdale drive: "We are decidedly opposed to annexation. We cannot see where Glendale would derive any benefit by consolidating with Los Angeles."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hurd, 110 South Adams street: "We are not in favor of Glendale annexing to Los Angeles. We prefer to have Glendale remain an independent city."

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oliver, 1914 Glenwood road, Glendale: "We are opposed to annexation because Glendale is a city capable of taking care of itself. We have come here to make our home. We think it is a beautiful city. We don't think we would get anything by helping to annex to Los Angeles. We drove 4000 miles to make our home in Glendale and we object to being moved into Los Angeles. Keep Glendale as it is."

The message of the Oliver's was borne to the Glendale Daily Press by Mrs. Oliver, who has been one of the firm supporters of the Glendale Daily Press since their arrival from Iowa, some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Doggett, 326 West Garfield avenue: "We are not in favor of annexation. We want Glendale to remain as it is and not assume Los Angeles' indebtedness. We do not see where any benefit would be derived."

James Forbes, 419 Lincoln avenue: "I certainly am against annexing Glendale to Los Angeles. I prefer to have Glendale remain an independent city and cannot see where we would be benefited one bit by annexing to Los Angeles. We have control over our own affairs here and do not believe that we would have as fair a showing if we became a part of Los Angeles."

Mrs. H. H. Wiebe, 438 Burchett street: "I do not think that we should annex to Los Angeles. I believe that it is better for Glendale to remain as it is. I cannot see that Glendale would be benefited by annexation."

BIDDLECOM WINS FAME WITH CLOCK

Roy Biddlecom of 1006 Virginia place, who was so highly complimented on his workmanship in constructing the unique clock which was recently presented to Glendale lodge of Elks No. 1289 by the San Fernando membership, has received two additional orders for similar clocks to be placed in new Elks clubhouses now under construction.

INFORMAL DANCE AT K. OF C. HALL

The informal dance to be given tonight by the members of the Knights of Columbus, to which their friends are invited, will also be in the form of an opening for their new clubhouse at 330 East Santa avenue. Mr. J. Brennan is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock and a large crowd and jolly time is anticipated.

Building Permits Stack As Year Ends

Contractors and intending home builders seem to be saving those enterprises for the new year and but few permits have been taken out within the past 24 hours. But three were issued yesterday and two of those for $2500 each. The total to date stands: For the month of December, $460,096; for the year to date, $6,381,391.

SPANISH WAR VET MEETING

The local camp of Spanish War Veterans will on next Wednesday night accept the invitation of Roosevelt camp and participate as guests in the installation exercises which that organization will put on at the hall of disabled veterans, 246 South Hill street, a number of other camps having been asked to join in the ceremonial.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly of 505 North Brand boulevard, will attend the rose tournament at Pasadena New Year's day.

ELKS' LODGE TO OMIT NEW YEAR CELEBRATION

Dance for Members Only to Be Given Saturday Night

Because New Year's eve will fall on Sunday night, the customary celebration will be omitted at the Glendale Elks' Lodge. Instead a dance will be given Saturday night limited to Elks and their ladies. There will be special decorations, and novelties, and refreshments will be served.

The regular meeting of the lodge will be held Tuesday night instead of Monday, which will be a holiday.

COUNCIL ORDERS MUCH STREET WORK

C. D. Poor appeared before the council and asked permission to run a street through his property and that of Mr. W. H. Reynolds, in the northwest section. He was asked to leave the tentative map with the city engineer in order that he may investigate the proposed subdivision. The council was favorable to granting the request of these men.

As there were no protests against the improving of Harvard and Carr Drive the next step in this work was ordered taken.

There were no protests against the establishing of an industrial district on a portion of Doran street, and city engineer was instructed to bring in proceedings for this change.

A petition was received for the establishing of a commercial district on Verdugo road from Wilson to California, and two weeks from last night was the time set for the hearing of protests on this proceeding.

A resolution accepting Tract No. 5889 was adopted.

The following ordinances were adopted:

An ordinance ordering the opening and widening of Chester street and Pioneer Drive.

An ordinance creating first-class district No. 9, Louise street, California to Wilson.

An ordinance creating first-class district No. 10, Orange and Milford streets.

An ordinance amending the salary ordinance.

The following resolutions were adopted:

A resolution of award for the improvement of Adams street, Lot B, to E. L. Fleming.

A resolution adopting diagrams of assessment districts.

A resolution of intention for the vacating of a strip on Palmer avenue.

Ordinances establishing grades on Fernando Court, Doran street, California, and Winchester, were introduced.

An ordinance establishing grades on two alleys in the city of Glendale, were introduced.

An ordinance was presented requiring hotels and rooming houses in Glendale to pay a quarterly fee of $8 for the collection of rubbish and garbage.

The city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance creating a board of park commissioners and defining the duties thereof in accordance with the provisions of the city charter.

FRANK WELLER TO LEAVE FOR THE LEGISLATURE

To Be Accompanied by Mrs. Weller to Sacramento

Frank Weller of this city, who was elected to the state assembly in November, will leave next week for Sacramento for the opening of the legislative session. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Weller.

The Wellers are having busy days getting ready to leave and attending various social functions. Christmas they were guests at a family Christmas dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lee at which covers were also laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee, Mrs. Jennie Steele, the host and hostess and their son Kenneth Lee.

They were also guests of Mr. Weller's parents in Long Beach on Monday, and on Thursday evening they entertained members of Mr. Weller's Sunday school class.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cleghorn of 314 Loma, will entertain at dinner New Year's day Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Melcher of McFarland, Calif., Mrs. J. T. Melcher, Mrs. Elizabeth Cleghorn, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hodgson, all of Los Angeles.

COUNCIL TO ENFORCE PAVING LAW

Finds Street Contractors
Have Been Laying
"Thin" Paving

BARRED IN FUTURE

Sam Davis Offers Resolution to Correct Evil of Light Surfacing

After about two hours of fighting over whether or not certain subdividers and street contractors should be permitted to lay streets in Glendale according to a light street specification, the Glendale city council decided last night to permit the work that had already been started to be laid under Specification No. 39, but that all work to be done in the future should be not less than 3-inch macadam.

The discussion, which at times grew rather heated, also disclosed the fact that in the past the street contractors in Glendale have been laying streets within this city without first having secured a permit, as is required by ordinance.

"Do you mean to say," asked Councilman Kimlin, "that the contractors have been laying streets in Glendale without having first secured a permit?"

Councilman Stephenson: "It looks that way."

"Is there no ordinance demanding that a permit be secured, and is there no penalty for the violation of that ordinance?" asked Mr. Kimlin.

City Attorney Shaw: "There is an ordinance requiring that such a permit be secured. If the city engineer will not grant a permit the contractor may appeal to the city council."

Councilman Davis started the fireworks when he introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved, that all specifications for street work in Glendale calling for less than 3-inch macadam be withheld, either under the Vrooman act or private contract."

In offering this Resolution Councilman Davis stated that he was sure he had offered a similar resolution about three months ago and that it had been passed by the council. City Clerk Van Wie could find no record of the resolution on the minutes.

Peter Ferry, contractor, and Mr. Wiley, member of the firm of Edwards & Wiley company, appeared before the board and argued in favor of the lighter specifications.

BARRON COMMITTED

W. A. Barron, who was taken into custody for having poured sulphuric acid in the mail chute at the postoffice during the Christmas holiday season and has been under observation at the psychopathic ward, has been committed to Norwalk, according to Postmaster P. Ripley Jackson, who attended the hearing in Los Angeles yesterday.

ORDER YOUR ADVERTISING SPACE AND EXTRA COPIES OF THE NEW YEAR EDITION

Ready for Mailing the Big Edition; Will Be for Sale at Five Cents the Copy

We take this opportunity of telling you of our special New Year's edition of the Glendale Daily Press, giving an analytic survey of our city—the first attempted in its history.

It will tell you of the phenomenal growth of Glendale—the reason for the growth and facts to show that the growth is bound to continue. Comparison is made with cities of the same size throughout the United States, proving that in a great many instances Glendale's growth in the past two years was as great as ten years of their growth.

While this edition will make you proud of our city, all figures are based on actual facts. Everyone should send one or more of these papers to eastern friends and let them learn of our wonderful city.

As an advertising medium, this edition will be a business getter. Each page will carry in addition to ads, statistics showing growth.

Richard L. Rowe, the leading specialist of the United States in municipal surveys, has been brought to Glendale by us to prepare this survey and its value to our city will be immense.

We expect a big demand for advertising space and would recommend that you make reservations at once for representation in it. It will go everywhere. Order your extra papers that we may print enough copies to meet all demands. We are planning on printing and distributing at least 8000 of these papers, which will mean at least 35,000 readers. A great many papers will be mailed to eastern friends by our subscribers. There will be no increase in rates. Papers already wrapped for mailing may be procured at our office.

JACKSON HEADS EXCHANGE CLUB

Annual Election Is Held;
George Whitaker Made
Vice President

Election of officers for the National Exchange Club was held at the meeting last night with W. B. Kelly presiding. Those elected were: D. Ripley Jackson, president; George Whitaker, vice-president; George H. Thomas, treasurer; board of directors, Dr. Henry R. Harrower, W. C. Waring, E. B. Sutton, Dr. J. A. Belyea, Robert Johnston, Fred Hill and W. B. Kelly.

The new officers took charge immediately and held an executive board meeting, at which James Howarth was appointed secretary, and William Block as assistant secretary. The remainder of the meeting was given over to reports of committee chairmen and officers. At the next meeting of the club, to be held Wednesday, January 3, appointment of the committee chairmen will be made.

The club held its first meeting on May 5, 1922, at which time they had a membership of twenty-five, which entitled them to the charter. The club was then organized under the Progressive Business Club. In July the Progressive Business Club became affiliated with the National Exchange Club and the local club then became known as the Glendale Exchange. Its present membership is thirty-nine.

W. MERVYN MILLS RESIGNS OFFICE IN WATER CO.

Secretary Encroaches on Time Needed for Railway Auditor Office

Because of increased responsibilities occasioned by the extension of the Glendale-Montrose line, its auditor, W. Mervyn Mills has resigned the secretaryship of the Crescenta Mutual Water company and its office has been transferred from 119 East Broadway, this city, to the Montrose state bank, corner of Montrose and Montrose avenues, Montrose. All mail for the water company should be directed to that address. It is felt that the new location will be more convenient for the majority of patrons and it will result in the saving of the company's forces in closer contact. The bank will act simply as a book-keeping and collection agency and will be in no way active in the management of the company or responsible for the actions of its directors, officials or employees. Patrons are requested to register any complaints with Superintendent E. L. Rider, at the pumping plant on Glenwood street, just south of Highland avenue, or in writing to Mr. Rider in care of the bank.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Tonight and Saturday, fair. Light frost in early morning in the interior. Fair with moderate temperature tonight and Saturday.

HAVE YOU SEEN CLARA PHILLIPS?

Deputies from the sheriff's office last night investigated a lonely cabin in the hills back of Glendale, where a woman resembling Clara was reported to have been hiding for some days.

The cabin was found deserted, but there were indications of hasty departure. Under-sheriff Biscailuz said. He declared that there was a strong possibility that Clara may have been hiding there since her escape.

ROTARIANS HOLD JOLLY XMAS PARTY

Members, Wives and Friends Gather for Social Evening

KENT PROVIDES CAKE

Delicious Dinner Served at Chamber of Commerce Auditorium

The Christmas party held last night at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium for the members of the Glendale Rotary Club and their wives and friends proved to be a most successful and brilliant social event. Each member of the club served on some committee for arranging the party. The banquet room was very Christmasy with its decorations of paper boughs and berries which hung overhead, strung on wires, and also on the walls. The holiday season was especially typified in the two Christmas trees which were very beautifully decorated. The larger of the trees had gifts for all those present.

A very delicious dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. The menu included: Fruit cocktail, combination salad, turkey with dressing, cranberry jelly, mashed potatoes, orange sherbet, celery, olives, radishes, rolls, coffee, plum pudding, fruit cake.

Singing was led by France Henry, with Richard Barry at the piano. One of the features of the evening was the presentation to the club by president Roy L. Kent of a large fruit cake frosted in the club colors and also an emblem in frosting and the greeting, "To My Fellow Rotarians, with Best Wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Your president, Roy L. Kent."

Favors of bonbons and toy balloons, with whistles attached, were at each place, the guests wearing the caps from the bonbons. After dinner President Kent called on all of the ladies present and several of the men, each responding with a short talk or some bit of entertainment. France Henry called on Roy Kent to sing "Smiling Through." There was a piano number by Mrs. Roberta Olin and Mrs. Edith Huntley; a ditty on "How I Earned a Dollar," by Mrs. Edith Smith; readings by Mrs. Jennie Phillips; song, by Mrs. Mary Cooper; violin selections, by Rene Olin, accompanied by Mr. Barry.

This was a true Christmas party, with Santa Claus, enacted by Karl Kirkin, who distributed very attractive gifts to all of the ladies and gifts of toys to the Rotarians, which added much to the merriment of the evening. Elliott Wyman, who is a plaster contractor, received two porous plasters.

The following were present: Mesdames Louise Bentley, Frankie Karr, Mary Cooper, Nell Crofton, Martha Dibbern, Florence Eastman, Virginia Emery, Kathryn Ford, Emily Henry, Margaret Hollier, Charlotte Busby, Mabel Hunter, Edith Huntley, Amy Jones, Alma Kelly, Margaret Kirkman, Ida Karr, Elizabeth Kent, Margaret Nisile, Belle Newton, Roberta Olin, Jennie Phillips, Neil Rhoades, Helen Redmond, Edith Smith, Grace Tanner, Valencie Watson, Frankie Webb, Helen White and Beatrice Wernette; Messrs. George Bentley, lumber dealer; Gil Cowan, newspaper; Charles Cooper, investment; Dave Crofton, shoe dealer; Art Dibbern, jeweler; R. E. Downing, nurseryman; Al Eastman, banker; Owen Emery, attorney; Ernest Ford, minister; France Henry, beverages; Val Hollister, feed and fuel; Ed Hewitt, laundry; Bill Hunter, painter; Jack Huntley, promoter; Ed Jones, confectionery; Dan Kelly, hardware; Karl Kirkin, stationery; George B. Karr, shirt manufacturer; Roy L. Kent, contractor; George Moyle, principal; Ed Nisile, gent's furnishings; Jim Newton, electrician; Rene Olin, accountant; Ed Phillips, undertaker; Jim Rhoades, secretary, Chamber of Commerce; Clarence Redmond, railroad; Herb Smith, grocery; Bill Tanner, automobiles; Tom Watson, newspaper; Harry Webb, drug goods; Dick White, principal; J. I. Wernette, real estate.

Out-of-town visitors were: Elliott Wyman and Mrs. Wyman. Mr. Wyman is almost considered as a resident.

OPTIMISM RULES REPORTS OF FEDERAL RESERVE AND COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Predict Greater Prosperity for American Business in 1923 Through Industrial and Mechanical Achievements

SWINGING STEADILY UPWARD

Government Reduces Interest Bearing Debt $667,-
000,000 in Twelve Months, Distributing
Christmas Checks

By WILLIAM J. LOSH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—With an optimism firmly based on a year of virile industrial and mechanical achievement, the federal reserve board and the department of commerce, in year-end analyses and forecasts of the nation's business, today united in predicting greater prosperity for American business in 1923.

Despite unsettled economic conditions abroad and difficulties in many domestic industries, both government agencies see for American business a steady upward swing. The federal government, with a reduction of the total interest-bearing debt of the country of $667,000,000 in the twelve months ending December 11, blazed the way toward fiscal solidarity for the country's economic structure, the department of commerce claimed.

Production in basic industries is increasing contrary to the general rule at this time of the year, the reserve board stated.

Textile mills were 20 per cent more active this year than last; iron and steel production increased from 60 to 70 per cent; petroleum, 15 per cent; coke, 40 per cent; paper, from 20 to 30 per cent; rubber, 40 per cent; automobiles, 50 per cent; building construction, 50 per cent; lumber, 35 per cent; brick, 50 per cent; leather, 25 per cent; sugar, 40 per cent. Outstanding declines were seven per cent in bituminous coal and 47 per cent in anthracite coal, due to the strikes.

Despite wide pessimism over the plight of the farmer, agricultural crop values for 1922 exceeded by 25 per cent the value of the 1921 crop, according to the board. Crop values were only 17 per cent less than the record-breaking total of 1920.

Increased demand for labor stimulated by increasing industrial prosperity and curtailed immigration, practically eliminated an unemployment problem this winter, the department of commerce declared. Labor shortages are even beginning to become manifest, notably in the steel mills, textile establishments and in the construction industry.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEW YEAR EVE CELEBRATION

Officers Will Report, Program Be Held and New Year Welcomed

Following a precedent set eight or nine years ago, the Central Christian church members will hold their annual New Year's eve meeting Sunday night. After a brief service of worship and song, reports from all the department heads and financial officers will be given; a rollcall of members, of whom these are now over 600, held; a literary and musical program; given and refreshments served. This varied program will occupy the time up to the midnight hour or very nearly so. Then the old year will be watched out and the new year greeted.

The new members added during 1922, 165 in number, will be given special recognition.

This is the only church service of the kind held yearly in Glendale, or in all California, so far as known, and is looked forward to eagerly by the membership each year.

BURGLARS LAY OFF

The bold, bad men of Glendale appear to be taking a holiday or to have left for fields that are less hazardous and closely watched. The record for yesterday shows but one serious complaint and that from Mrs. Enos of the Victor hotel, who reported a suit of clothes stolen from her room in the hotel.

A member of the Glendale Club as he was delegated by the district governor to initiate the Glendale Club. He is a member of Los Angeles Rotary Club. Announcement was made at the party that it was J. I. Wernette's birthday. He was presented with the customary gift to members on their birthdays, a rose bud in a vase.

MUSICIANS AND MUSIC LOVERS TO BE CALLED

Community Service to Begin Organizing This Department

A meeting is to be called in the near future of all musicians and music lovers of Glendale to discuss plans for a broader music program in this city. This was one of the matters taken under consideration at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday afternoon of the business committee appointed recently by V. M. Hollister, president of Glendale Community Service. This committee is a policy making body for the development of a community wide music program in conjunction with what is already being done by many of the organizations of Glendale. This committee includes: A. L. Baird, chairman; France Henry, Alexander Mitchell, P. J. Hay, selden, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. W. A. Kulp, Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, and H. V. Henry. Alexander Stewart, Pacific Coast music organizer for National Community Service, and Richardson D. White, chairman of the program committee of Glendale Community Service, were also present at the meeting.

Among the musical activities considered that might supplement the work already being done in Glendale, were: Community male chorus, Community orchestra, Community music nights, Community music institute. The following action was taken: It was carried that the executive committee of Glendale Community Service be asked to obtain the services of Alexander Stewart from National Community Service of New York for the conducting of a music institute in Glendale as soon as possible, which doubtless would be sometime in February. At the music institute an organization would be perfected of the song leaders of Glendale and others trained. The object will be to provide any gathering with a song leader.

It was also decided that the chairman appoint a committee to consider the advisability of forming a community orchestra. The following committee was appointed to work out details for the organization of an institute for volunteer music workers for Glendale: Alexander Mitchell, chairman; Mrs. W. Q. Widdows and Mrs. W. A. Kulp.

TRAIN SCHEDULE FOR NEW YEAR'S AT PASADENA

P. E. Schedule Is Prepared for Big Tourney
Crowds

Plans have been completed by the Pacific Electric management to handle the largest New Year's crowd in its history to Pasadena, it being predicted that 65,000 persons will travel by trolley to the tournament of roses. Extra through service has been arranged from practically every city on the Pacific Electric system and the public is urged to "travel early and avoid the rush."

The Glendale line will be operated between 5:25 a. m. and 6:20 p. m. as follows: Leaves Los Angeles (Sixth and Main) 5:25 a. m.; 5:52 a. m.; 6:20 a. m.; 6:40 a. m.; 7:00 a. m.; 7:20 a. m.; then every 10 minutes until 6:20 p. m. These cars alternating 7:20 a. m. and every 20 minutes to East Broadway; 7:30 a. m. and every 20 minutes to North Glendale; after 6:20 p. m. regular service will be resumed.

Burbank line trains between 5:30 a. m. and 6:46 p. m. will be operated between Burbank and Glendale station transferring at that point from and to Los Angeles. After 6:46 p. m. regular service will be resumed.

NEW YEAR'S EVE AT ARROWHEAD LAKE

New Year's Eve, Sunday, December 31, will be celebrated at Lake Arrowhead at Arrowhead Woods, in true old-fashioned back-east style. Huge bonfires will blaze in the village square while in the great pavilion a New Year's Eve dance and party will hold sway. One of the best dance orchestras has been obtained for this occasion, and 1923 will be ushered in with the festive strains of modern syncopation coupled with the atmospheric charm of winter and the delightful environment of this new recreational center. Although Fleming Grove and other accommodations have been engaged to capacity, numbers of valley folk are planning to motor for the dance and celebration, returning in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

This unique New Year's celebration demonstrates the diversity of Southern California's climate and proves out the contention that California does offer the entire range of climatic conditions.

LUTHERAN CHORIS ENTERTAINED BY THE HOFFMANS

The members of the choir of the First Lutheran church were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, 327 North Maryland, yesterday evening. This is choir night at the First Lutheran church, but after a short rehearsal the director, Mrs. Hoffman, invited the party of 24 to spend the evening as her guests. There were tables with games and delightful refreshments. The honors of the evening were won by Mrs. Burr and Mr. Ringer.

Materials for Lamp Shade
An unusual gift for some one living far from the conveniences of a city, but who enjoys doing the latest fancy work, is a package containing all the materials to make a lamp shade.

FRANK CHANCE, NEW RED SOX MANAGER, AND OVERALL, OLD PITCHING STAR, HIS ASSISTANT

Chance, famous as player and manager of the Chicago Cubs, has sold his California ranch and re-entered big league baseball with the intention of reconstructing the Boston Red Sox. The signing of Chance by H. H. Frazee brings back to baseball one of the most popular and dynamic personalities the game has ever known. As first baseman and "peerless leader" a decade or more ago of the Cubs—National League champions four times and world's champions twice—Chance established a brilliant reputation not only as a player but as a strategist. He was with the Cubs for fifteen years. With Chance at Boston will be Orvie Overall, former Cub twirler, as assistant and coach of pitchers. Overall is shown in the insert.

PRE-INVENTORY DR. TUCKER WON SALE BY ARMY AND NAVY BY CITY'S CHARM

The Army and Navy Store, corner Brand and Harvard, is now in the midst of its big Pre-Inventory Sale, and is offering the buying public prices that carry our biggest drawing card in the history of the store.

Mr. Waring, one of the owners of the store, said: "We had rather give the public the advantage of rock bottom prices than carry our large stock over into the new year. We are taking inventory and we are making prices that will appeal to anyone needing goods for our line. We must make room for our big new spring stock, and to do this we realize that we must sell a large amount of merchandise."

The Army and Navy Store carries a stock second to none other stores in this section, and its prices are always right. Their stock is very large, and consists of both new and reclaimed goods bought at prices that mean a great saving to the public.

NEWS OF FOLKS IN BURBANK DISTRICT

A social gathering was held at the home of Mrs. Louis Clouse, 724 Orange Grove avenue in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Britch, and son, Lou Radcliff and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Britch are late arrivals in Glendale, who were residents of Ida Grove, Iowa. Mr. Britch recently resigned as postmaster of Ida Grove, a post he held for the past nine years. Mr. Lou Radcliff is an old resident, a builder and a booster of Glendale.

NEW DANCING ARTIST DISCUSSES ART IN MOTION

"The standard of artistic dancing becomes higher each year. The public is no longer satisfied with a performer who exhibits a pretty costume and the meaningless repetition of one or two easy steps," said Miss Marcella Webb, who is now forming classes in artistic dancing. "The really fine dancer spends years in gaining poise and smoothness of execution in rendering a vast number of difficult steps, such as the pirouette, tour de force, entrechat or cabriole."

"The finest classical music is now selected by the discriminating teacher and the dance and the music must interpret each other." Miss Marcella Webb has very high ideals in regard to her chosen profession. She has selected a beautiful studio, large, well-lighted, with a fine floor, good piano, practice bars, and all necessary equipment.

Miss Webb will be pleased to have those who are interested visit her classes either Wednesday at 3 p. m. or Saturday at 10 a. m. Ferleur Dance Studio, 140 N. Brand Boulevard.

Will Stay Here for Life

Dr. Arthur C. Tucker, dentist, who has recently established himself in the Wishart building on South Brand boulevard just north of Colorado, is very much in love with the city of his adoption and declares he has made his last move; that he expects to end his life here.

He is a graduate of the dental college of Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, and the same year came to California and opened an office in Los Angeles. After practicing there ten years he moved to San Bernardino where he remained for fifteen years, when he and Mrs. Tucker concluded they would like to be nearer Los Angeles but not in it. They made a tour of inspection of the suburbs, were so favorably impressed that they elected to come here. The doctor has joined the chamber of commerce and says he is ready to identify himself with the interests of the town and help to make it the great city he believes it is destined to become.

He has a very nice suite of offices with a big laboratory in connection. The floor will be wholly occupied by professional men with a common reception room. Dr. Ray Lanterman having established an office there and the remaining suite having been engaged by an eye and ear specialist who will soon take possession.

Dr. Tucker has a very fine modern equipment and already has quite a practice through former patrons and friends.

XMAS EXERCISES AT NAZARENE SCHOOL

The Christmas exercises of the Nazarene Sunday school were held at the Mission on Wednesday night. The program consisted of songs and recitations by the children of the different classes and a short sermon by Rev. Swaney of Tujunga. At the close of the program boxes of candy and nuts were distributed to all present. Rev. and Mrs. Scheidman, the pastor and wife, were presented with a very substantial gift as a token of love and esteem for the work they have done during the past year. There will be a service at the Mission to-night (Friday) at 7:30 o'clock Rev. Swaney will speak.

Sunday services for December 31. Sunday school at 2 p. m. Preaching at 3 p. m. Sermon by Rev. L. E. Swaney. Evening service, 7:30 o'clock. Sermon by Rev. L. E. Swaney. The Mission is located at 1002 South Glendale avenue. Everybody welcome.

Some men are too busy to grow old. Men who pretend to understand women are only pretenders. Every time a girl builds an air castle she puts a different man in it.

Nature must love a joke—judging from the funny people we meet. Most of our joys as well as our sorrows are due to ignorance. It's far better to have your neighbors owe you an apology than money.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cleghorn, of 314 Mira Loma, will attend a New Year's eve party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parker of South Pasadena, Sunday.

Dainty Event at Home of Bride's Parents on San Fernando

Miss Keroline D. I. Kischell was married to Merion Edward Clark at the home of the bride's parents, 1529 South San Fernando road, Thursday at four o'clock. The marriage was solemnized by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends, after which a bountiful wedding dinner was enjoyed by a happy company. The bride and groom will make their home in Los Angeles, where the groom is associated with his father in business.

JOHN WORLEY ENTERTAINS HIS COLLEGE CHUMS

John Worley, of 341 North Jackson, home for the holidays, was host on Wednesday night at a holiday dinner for college chums in the state university at Berkeley, whose homes are in Southern California and who all live in the same fraternity house. Covers were laid for twelve, Philip Werner being the only Glendalean besides the host. The table was centered with a small Christmas tree, there were joke gifts for all the guests, and the evening following the dinner was spent over card tables.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carpenter, of Providence, Rhode Island, were the house guests of their daughter, Mrs. Allen B. Coon of 221 North Orange, over Christmas.

ORANGE BLOSSOM Coffee costs less than other high grade coffee because it is packed in glass-lined bags instead of expensive tin containers. To prevent the coffee from losing its flavor and strength, Orange Blossom is roasted and ground every day and supplied to grocers in limited quantities—just enough for immediate demands. As a result, it actually reaches the consumer within a day or two after leaving the roaster.

Give Orange Blossom a trial. It goes farther—makes more cups per pound than any other brand.

PEARSONS HAVE GUESTS FROM FAYETTE, MISSOURI

One day this week Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Pearson of 644 East Harvard, were mightily pleased to receive a visit from old friends and former fellow townspeople, Henry and Miss Betty Burkhardt of Fayette, Mo., who are on a visit to Southern California, and Paul Sexton, of Los Angeles, who also hails from Fayette. Mr. Pearson was in business for 55 years in Fayette, in the same store all the time, and everyone in the old town was his friend, and is yet, if living. He entered the store when 16 years of age, his father being the owner, and worked up to a partnership and then became sole owner. The only real vacation he ever took in that time was in 1866, when he went to North Carolina to marry Miss Kate Terry, who had been his sweetheart since she was 9 years old, and is yet. No resident of Fayette ever thinks of visiting Los Angeles or vicinity without including the Pearsons with those they delight to call on.

The Burkhardts are strongly impressed with Glendale and may decide to locate here.

NEW GLENADIAN IS ENROUTE HERE

Mr. John J. Graf, who resides at the Elks' club, motored to Santa Cruz where he spent Christmas as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, and their daughter, Mrs. T. A. Vernon. Mrs. Patterson is very much enthused over Glendale, and contemplates building several bungalows during the coming summer, having built two last summer, one in Glendale and one in Universal City.

BIBLE CLASSES MAKE GIFT TO MRS. BAKER

Mrs. J. M. Blankenship, 1317 North Brand was hostess on Thursday afternoon for the third consecutive year, in honor of Mrs. J. Rhea Baker, who is teacher of the three Bible classes, the Wednesday Morning International Bible class, the Wednesday Afternoon Bible class and the Friday Evening Bible class. The beautiful and spacious Blankenship home was decorated in the Christmas colors and greenery. Mrs. J. K. Gilkerson led the devotion. Mrs. J. H. Culver, Mrs. J. E. Henderson and another lady whose name was not learned, were the official representatives of the different classes, after which Mrs. Baker was handed an envelope to be opened at once. (The contents disclosed a sum of money to purchase a stipulated article for her own home as a gift from the members of the three classes. Mrs. Baker responded graciously, after which Mrs. R. D. Jones gave two delightful readings. Two original Christmas games by Mrs. Glenn B. Porter and Mrs. Edwin R. Hamilton were enjoyed by all. Delicious refreshments were served by the hospitable hostess, assisted by several class members. About 50 members of the three classes were present.

MRS. TEMPLE GIVES INFORMAL TEA PARTY

Mrs. Charles H. Temple of 145 North Orange street entertained at an informal Yuletide tea at her home Thursday afternoon. The guests included Mrs. C. E. Parish, Miss Clara Burtram and Mrs. R. G. Morrell of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. H. D. Goss, Mrs. F. N. Arnold, Mrs. L. G. Sherman, Mrs. Harry Gibbs, Mrs. Roy Kent, Mrs. R. K. Snow and Mrs. A. M. Hunt.

MRS. AND MISS FARMER ENTERTAIN AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. C. W. Farmer and daughter Margaret, of 167 Delaware avenue, entertained at luncheon in their new home in Eagle Rock city, on Wednesday. Those present were Mrs. H. A. Conger and daughter Elizabeth and Mrs. T. A. Coppock, of Glendale, and Mrs. William Johnson and children, of Los Angeles. The afternoon was spent in making Christmas calls on mutual friends in Glendale.

YARICKS GIVE WEEK-END PARTY AND DINNER

At a week-end party and Christmas dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Yarick were host and hostess, they had the pleasure of entertaining Miss Dorothy Wilkinson from Claremont, Mrs. Florence Chase of Los Angeles, and Hoyt Curtis.

MRS. E. L. YOUNG TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Easy Lessons in Auction Bridge

Copyright 1922 by Hoyle, Jr.

Article No. 14 Overbidding of Partner's Bid

It very frequently happens that a player will bid a suit that his partner cannot support or one that doesn't offer so good a chance for game as his partner's suit. Under such conditions it is good Auction for partner to overbid, either to deny or improve the original bid. Suppose first hand, as dealer, bids one Spade, second hand passes, and third hand holds the following:

Hearts—A, K, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—J, 7, 2
Diamonds—10, 9, 6
Spades—7, 2

The fact that third hand holds only two Spades is sufficient reason for him to deny that suit by bidding two-Hearts. When a player bids a suit and his partner holds two small cards or less of that suit, he always should warn his partner of that fact by bidding his own suit, provided that suit is as good as a defensive bid. As pointed out in a previous article, a defensive bid indicates at least one and one-half quick tricks.

In the following hand, suppose first hand, as dealer, bids one Club, second hand passes, and third hand holds:

Hearts—A, 5, 3, 2
Clubs—J, 7, 3
Diamonds—K, 10, 9, 6
Spades—Q, 7

Third hand should bid one No Trump with this hand, not to deny his partner's suit, but to improve the bid. It is much easier to go game with No Trump than with Clubs as the bid. The same rule holds true in this case as in a denial bid; that is, to improve the bid, the player should hold at least one and one-half quick tricks in suit other than the suit bid by partner. In the case of a No Trump, these tricks should be distributed in at least two suits other than the suit bid.

There are many other cases where a player not only should, but must overbid his partner. The purpose of good

Auction and good bidding is to arrive at the best bid of the combined hands. This cannot be done unless players are alert both to warn their partners of lack of support for their bids, or to bid another suit that will afford a better chance for game. These points will be discussed more at length in the next article under the heading "Take-Out Bids." One of the most difficult lessons for the novice to learn is the necessity for denying partner's suit bid with two or less small cards of his suit. It is very difficult for the novice to understand that no matter how much strength he has in plain suits, if he only has two small trumps or a singleton, his partner is going to have a hard time to go game with the trump strength in opponents' hands. For that reason always warn partner, either by bidding No Trump or holding good cards in the other suits, or by bidding another suit. In the following hands, dealer has bid one Spade and second hand passes:

Hearts—A, 4, 2
Clubs—Q, J, 9, 7, 6
Diamonds—Q, 4, 2
Spades—7, 2

Third hand should bid one No Trump.

Hearts—10, 8
Clubs—K, Q, 10, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—Q, 7, 6, 2
Spades—4

Third hand should bid two Clubs.

Hearts—A, K, Q, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—4, 2
Diamonds—K, 4
Spades—7, 4, 2

Third hand should bid two Hearts, even though he holds three Spades. The Heart suit is so strong that it should be shown.

Hearts—10, 8, 7, 6
Clubs—Q, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—J, 10, 7, 6
Spades—4

Third hand should pass. The hand is too weak even to warn partner.

Truths in Epigram

The worst of mad men is a saint run mad.—Pope.

Men will wrangle for religion; write for it; fight for it; die for it; anything but live for it.—Colton.

CONCERNING A FOLLY

"Is there a Japanese plot to turn the United States into a nation of dope fiends?"

Such is the question asked by a reporter, the query serving as introduction to a story that, from the very nature of the interrogatory, may be assumed to be prejudiced and without value. When a writer deals with a dubious subject, he may feel barred from direct expression. He is given to rely upon insinuation. The very fact that this question was formulated, was an indication of the possibility, or perhaps of the desire, to answer it in the affirmative.

There is exactly the same likelihood that Japan hopes to turn the United States into "a nation of dope fiends" as that the United States has fixed its fond desire upon turning the Japanese into bootleggers, second-story men or pickpockets.

This country has a narcotic problem to face and is facing it with energy. For its condition in respect of the use of illicit drugs, it has itself, and nobody else to blame. It must work out its own salvation, and insulting insinuations do not form any part of the method. It is highly probable that Japan would ship opium or other contraband to America if it could carry on the trade at a profit. Also equally probable that any other nation now under the sun would do exactly a similar business. For many years even so highly civilized a people as the English forced opium upon China. Americans do not occupy the plane at which the China of that time stood. No alien conspiracy could force opium upon the United States. It is nonsense to ascribe either such ability or intent to Japan.

THE DISAPPEARING CITY

The theory that cities are doomed to disappear as civilization progresses doubtless was formulated by somebody in a moment of silliness. However, once given currency, it has continued to flit through the consciousness as a possibility; which most decidedly, it is not.

Even the automobile has had a distinct influence upon the growth of cities, but it has not been to lessen the growth. On the contrary it is due to the automobile, that the suburbs of the city have spread. Men now live at a distance from their offices that in former days would have kept them out of touch with their business. Now they are at their offices promptly, and regard the drive of perhaps a score of miles, as a mere trifle. Similarly, it is probable that the airplane, perfected to a point not at present attained, shall cause the suburbs to expand to still greater remoteness. And that will be about all. Of course this is conjectural, but so is the other view; it also has a basis in common sense, which the other view utterly lacks.

The history of the human race shows that its members gather by instinct and choice. They do not, save in exceptional cases, yearn for solitude. The sighing for a lodge in some vast wilderness is a poetic fantasy. Robinson Crusoe had such a lodge, but his lot never has been particularly envied. There are bound to be centers of art, letters, education, industry and commerce. Where these flourish will the people be, their presence creating and sustaining the centers. The necessity for living in quite the huddled fashion of the present will pass, it may be, and the city become finer and more marked by artistry than now. There is not the slightest indication that it is to cease being a city, or that a generation hence there will be more people homing on the mountain tops than today.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER

Many of the worst automobile accidents are caused by drunken drivers. So general is the use of the public highways by sober folk that these have a right to protest against the outrage of being endangered by the truculent minority that declines to be sober. There have been several fatalities in the holiday season due alone to the fact that an intoxicated person was at the wheel. Police Judge Chambers of Los Angeles, who has been most active in suppressing the particular form of evil that is expressed in smash-ups, says he regrets that it is virtually impossible to convict intoxicated drivers of operating automobiles. He does not state what the defect is, but certainly the speedy elimination of it is necessary.

A second abuse pointed out by the judge is the ease with which a license to drive may be obtained. There seem to be no restrictions. Let a man buy a car, even though he is ignorant as to how to start or stop it and never had touched a steering wheel with the machine he may have delivered a license authorizing him to roam over the roads of California. No test is made of vision, experience, health or temperamental fitness. If the absolutely green driver does not hurt himself or any one else, he simply is basking in the smiles of fortune.

Recently as a man stepped from his car to make some adjustment of the curtains, a load of drunks rolled by at a high speed. One leaped from the passing car and hit the stationary driver on the head with some blunt instrument, apparently taking this fashion of showing the effect of the holiday spirit. The blow was fatal; the act was murder. It is time to clear the highways of the vicious, menacing drove of hastening morons as they rush from folly to folly, a threat to general safety. For the green driver there is hope, for time will season him, but for the drunken driver, while bootlegging persists, no cure has been perfected.

ART AND DIPLOMACY

Operatic artists of Moscow are headed towards the United States for a season. They are singers and actors of high excellence. In former times they would have been received without demur, but on the contrary, their coming would have been the signal for enthusiasm in musical circles. What degree of success is to mark the tour must be conjectured, for the same principle that curtailed the performances of Gaski, apply to this aggregation, or will so be construed.

Members of the company are under obligation to pay the soviet government a third of their earnings while out of Russia. They also are under bond to return to that country at a fixed date. They are instructed not to spend any anti-bolshevist propaganda, but no mention is made of restriction as to spreading the opposite.

There is marked absence of desire in this country to lend financial aid to the soviet regime. It is known to be a part of the plan of Moscow to inaugurate a reign all over the world of the type of intelligence that has dominated and crushed Russia. To this end an initial step is the setting up everywhere of a spirit of revolution looking to the overthrow of all governments. With particular virulence is this program aimed at the United States.

Many Americans delight in music of the best class. They would be glad to hear the Russians, and would be quite unaware of anything undesirable in having the visitors here. There are far more Americans who place the welfare of their country above any artistic yearnings, and would willingly forego an operatic treat rather than have it given by a group that in some sense must be considered the representative of doctrines regarded in America as hateful and dangerous.

The imperial and impertinent wizard of the ku klux has been declaring the organization he heads, to be constitutional in principle, and in methods law-abiding and gentle. Down in Louisiana where they have taken the bodies of two murdered men from a lake, the opinion that has developed fails to coincide with the wizard's view. As to gentle and refined methods, possibly the tar of reform is scented, and the feathers used in decorating victims, selected for their beauty.

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Women spend a great deal of money on beauty doctors and do not always achieve the desired results. Here is some information on how to beautify yourself and it is very cheap, costing you only the price of this paper. I speak of the kind of beauty that attracts men, which I take it to be the kind most desired. In the first place it is not the handsome face, form or features that always or even usually wins out. The great women of the world who have been noted for their charm have been deficient in these respects. It is something behind all these. It is what you might call graciousness or winsomeness. It is the fruit of the spirit.

To be beautiful to men, the woman must like men; that is, she must be human. Of course she can like men too much. There is moderation in everything. But it can be safely said that a woman who is not pleased when a man comes around and who does not show it by her actions is not the sort of woman that men like to come around.

One of the most offensive qualities in a woman and one that drives away admirers is egotism. Egotism in man or woman is probably the most hated of all qualities.

Sometimes an utterly selfish and self-centered woman may attract admiration, but as a rule she does not keep it long.

Perhaps the most charming quality in any woman is happiness. A happy woman is well liked everywhere. People, including men, like sunshine and do not care for gloom, particularly female gloom.

Another quality in woman that has a charm for men is enthusiasm. A man likes a woman to be in favor of things and not generally opposed to everything. If you have the critical faculty very highly developed, better make up your mind to be an old maid.

By the same token a sharp wit and bitter tongue may be very pleasing to your vanity, but men do not like it. The epigram concerning wit, which says "wit is the art of getting yourself disliked," is particularly true of women.

Finally, the thing that men like in women is appreciation. Most women are born appreciators. Hence their universal charm.

All this pre-supposes that the woman wants men to like her. If she does not care she has wasted her time in reading this article.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Just how does the quality of humor appeal? That is an interesting question.

And the editor of this Listening Post has been puzzling over it before writing this bit of interrogation.

Just why do people like humorous expressions?

The whole thing came about because a friend of the editor of this Listening Post telephoned today.

A friend of the editor who arranges programs for a large club of women.

In a northern city.

A club of eight or nine hundred women who meet once a month.

They are women of culture, refinement, aspiration, humanity.

The finest kind of women it is possible to know.

And the editor of this Listening Post was asked to suggest some speaker who would please such a body of women.

And modestly forbade his suggesting himself.

So he began to suggest others.

And the editor of this Listening Post suggested a very eminent scientist.

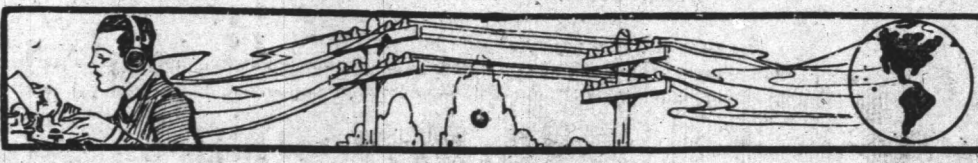

But the fear was expressed that while science was useful and admirable, it would be too dry.

That is all a matter of opinion, of course. Because science is one of the fascinating things in the world of knowledge.

But there is no laughter in it. It is a bit earnest and all that.

So the suggestion of a scientist was passed. And then there came a serious poet.

Along the pathway of suggestion.

Songs of the Poets

Troia Fuit—By Reginald Wright Kauffman (1887—)

The world was wide when I was young.

My schoolday hills and dales among;

But, oh, it needs no Puck to put,

With whipping wing and flying foot,

A girle 'round the narrow sphere

In which I labor now and here!

Life's face was fair when careless I

First leaped beneath an April sky,

And wept those fine-imagined woes

That Youth at nineteen thinks it knows;

Now love and woe both run so deep

I have not any time to weep.

No matter; though at last we see

That what was could not always be,

It girds our loins and steels our hands

In duller days and smaller lands

To recollect the country where

The world was wide, and life was fair.

THE VANDAL AND THE GARDEN

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

It was a lovely little garden, quaint, carefully tended and old fashioned.

The husband and wife cultivated it after his day's work was done.

They loved the hollyhocks, the mignonettes and the lettuce and tomatoes that grew between the rows of flowering plants, and they sang as they thought of their plants—and the baby that came to see the progress of the garden.

Then out of the great beyond, the world outside the little couple and their garden and their sweet, placid dreams, came a strange woman, exotic, predatory, experimental.

Into the garden she brought weird plants and she influenced the husband to dig up the things he understood and put into the garden the seeds of tropical things, "rare and exotic" she explained.

Her lips were carmine as she told of the heavy luring perfume of the plants she brought, and the fingers wherewith she set the seeds in the ground were long and white and useless.

The little wife stood by, trusting, but understanding not at all. Her garden was in ruins; but of this she dared not speak for her husband had a strange crimson spot on each cheek when she asked for the old ways and the restoration of her simple treasures.

He was moody and the songs of other days were still.

Always the strange woman came to see the progress of the tropic things, and her crimson lips whispered crimson words in the ear of the husband as he tried to make the alien plants thrive in the soil of the quaint garden, made for sweet and wholesome things.

With the coming of spring the roots of the tropical plants sent up quick, heavy shoots but they grew rapidly and the little garden was desolate like the heart of the little wife.

One day the crimson lips were set heavily, avidly, against the flaming cheeks of the little wife's husband; and, some hours later lightly and provocatively against the lips of a man who came from the great outside, from the far beyond that produced the tropical plants, which sprouted and died in the old fashioned garden.

"The woman, amused by her experiment, went her way back whence she came."

"Tropical plants can't live here," she told the man who had come from the great beyond.

"This is a place for lettuce and common things."

She tossed her head in the direction of the desolate garden, toward the once happy home where sat a man with a smouldering, sultry fire in his suffering eyes, toward the house where fever reddened the cheeks of a little wife whose baby would never dance among the hollyhocks and mignonettes, the lettuce and tomatoes in a quaint garden.

"Grow things that you understand," said a voice in the man's ear.

But his masculine pride was hurt and bruised and he grew nothing.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

EUROPE'S ESCAPED CRIMINAL

[The Churchman]

Rt. Rev. Rennie MacGinnes, Anglican bishop in Jerusalem, has none of the illusions in regard to the Turk that we have noted in many English and American visitors to the Near East.

He is not beguiled by their soft speaking. Preaching in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the bishop said:

Every country over which the Turk has ruled has hated him and has longed for the time when his rule would be removed. All we hear nowadays is to the effect that the Turk is a gentleman and that he is not near so bad as he is painted is not true.

The Turk kills because he is a Mohammedan and because it is enjoined upon him that his place will be higher in heaven if he kills a Christian. Every Christian a Mohammedan kills is another star in his crown.

The opinion of many in the Near East—and it is certainly my opinion—is that the Turk is the arch-criminal of the world. He is an escaped criminal. Unless the other nations of the world realize this there can be no permanent peace. I feel it is the task of every civilized country to deal with the Turk as a world problem.

One man voluntarily submitted to arrest for violation of the Wright law, but for the most part these processes have not been voluntary.

One thing learned from recent European activities is that in the matter of slaughter and rapine there is little the Turks can show the Greeks.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is a little hard for the outsider to understand politics. Perhaps it is useless for him to try. There's the experience of Associate Justice William A. Sloane, for instance. Of course a seat on the supreme bench should not be a political position, but indubitably, the effort to procure it, is highly political.

Justice Sloane, an able man, respected for his probity and learning, had given faithful and brilliant service as a member of the supreme court. He was a candidate for re-election, and should have won. Coupled with his known fitness, the pride of the southern end of the state, from which section he was the only candidate, ought to have made his majority more than merely decisive.

Among the newspaper opponents of Justice Sloane was Othemen Stevens of Los Angeles, a most genial journalist, and one who knows his way about. Doubtless his support of Kerrigan, a northern man, had much to do with the defeat of Sloane. Reference is had to personal support, for the paper honored by the services of Stevens had less pull than possessed by the writer in question.

Now Stevens writes an open letter to Sloane congratulating him, with apparent sincerity, upon defeat, and intimating that it is better to be a lawyer among friends, than to be grinding out supreme court decisions. All right. But on the same basis, Stevens must have supported Kerrigan as a sort of slam.

But as said in the beginning, it is a little hard for the outsider to understand politics.

The scion of a wealthy family married a chorus girl, spent a fortune in thirty days, and now is broke; as he deserves to be. The experience may bring out some latent good in him that has remained unsuspected. Now he is engaged in writing his own story. But the story of his folly, and the spectacle of the fool parting from his money, is old and familiar enough.

A far wiser course would be for the fellow to be silent and remain remote. What are his self-made troubles to any but himself?

There is a rumor that Bergdoll is about to come back to the United States. This is definite enough to designate San Pedro as the point at which he intends first to press anew the soil of his native land.

It would be a good thing were Bergdoll to arrive. There is no likelihood that he could keep in hiding. He is under sentence as a deserter, and he was a deserter because first a traitor, unless it is possible to ascribe his whole conduct to cowardice. There is a coil awaiting him.

The world would be afforded a sad spectacle were Senators Johnson and Borah to experience a falling out. Such situation could not be regarded as surprising. Two gentlemen so equipped with voice, vocabulary and the desire to tell Europe where to get off, must almost of necessity occasionally desire to occupy the floor at the same time.

It is strange that an American paper should accept the correspondence of Lincoln Steffens as conveying any authority, or having any object but to applaud and uphold bolshevism. Steffens is a type of the graduate parlor bolshevist. He entertains the same sentiments, but the parlor has grown too small for him. The wide, wide world is the only place spacious enough for him to rave in comfortably.

Steffens has been sending over stuff derogatory to Mussolini, the new premier of Italy. The real effect of this will be to confirm the idea that Mussolini is a strong factor in the affairs of Europe. Steffens portrays him as a petty and puffed-up tyrant, scornful of the people he serves. It is not difficult, however, to see through Steffens in this instance.

Mussolini is of the Fascist. This is an organization that came in to being for the purpose of stifling out the communists of whom Steffens is the ever-willing, wagging tongue. And, as often has been said in other connections, that's that.

It is singular to observe Senator Borah in the attempt to promote a conference of European powers in this country. With due respect to the gentleman, a suspicion arises that his motives are not being proclaimed by himself, and that a purpose that is presented as benign, under the surface, is sinister.

The Borah theory has been that the United States has no business with European affairs. If they wanted to fight over there, let 'em fight, but don't get mixed up in it, and don't fret as to the outcome. He seemed to think that the United States could be prosperous, and remain aloof and unconcerned, were Europe being ravaged, or if it experienced the mischance of being wiped from the map.

There may be a selfish desire not to become entangled. This does not lead in the direction of an ultimate world peace. Nothing desirable would be likely to come of inviting European diplomats here and telling them to go back home, as no aid of any kind was available for them. That sort of message might better go by cable.

For years I have been in the habit of going to one of the big downtown stores because of an old, gray-haired clerk. He knew his business, he sincerely tried to find what I wanted and not merely to sell me goods, and he was likable. Yesterday he could not be found.

"Mr. Weatherby," said the youngster who stood behind his accustomed counter, importantly, "has gone to Europe."

Inquiry developed an odd little story. Weatherby had been miscast all his life in the drama called "Making a Living," in which we all play our parts. He was a good clerk, a kindly, courteous, intelligent gentleman, but nature had not planned him for clerking. He lacked initiative, of courage, or some other quality, doubtless, or he would have set out on a search for his proper part. Meanwhile he filled in his spare moments by studying languages.

The rest of the story is easily enough read. After having spent most of his life behind a counter, working merely for a living, with no more ambition in his deadened breast than has the horse that toils around the circle of a claymill, accident—or incident—took him from the tragic chorus of acting clerkship and made him a principal in the play. A foreigner dashed to his counter and demanded in scraps of English and other languages that he be given something or other at once. The old clerk was able to talk to him in any one of his several native tongues, for the foreigner was one of those extraordinary polyglots only found to perfection on the continent. The ultimate result was the translation of the old clerk to Europe and a position of responsibility and dignity.

The promotion was made possible, of course, because Weatherby had fitted himself for it during a long procession of humdrum years. But there is a graver moral. All those years he had been filling a place for which he was not fitted by temperament or inclination. All those years he knew full well that he had been miscast.

One wonders why the Weatherbys of this life—one sees them at every one of life's counters—do not attempt at least to play other parts. Why should they tamely accept a place in the unregarded chorus?

"Shattered Idols," the seven-reel special production made by J. L. Frothingham, which is to be shown at the T. D. and L. theatre today, has been heralded by picture critics as one of the most lavish productions of the entire year.

In his effort to outstrip his former successes, Producer Frothingham secured the services of a cast of fourteen screen stars each of whom has been starred or featured in productions.

All the barbaric splendor of the Far East has been utilized in the making of this wonderful production, which is a screen adaptation of the famous I. A. A. Wyllie novel, "A Daughter of Brahma."

Rev. and Mrs. E. Hoskyn of 254 North Jackson street will visit their son in Los Angeles on New Year's Day. At 5 o'clock New Year's night Rev. Hoskyn who is a retired Methodist minister, will officiate at the wedding ceremony of friends in Los Angeles.

TOO MUCH MEAT
HURTS KIDNEYSTake a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid, excreted by the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts, from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.—Adv.

GOVERNORS AT HARRIS'S PROHIBITION CONFERENCE, AND DRY ENFORCERS

Problems of prohibition enforcement were discussed at a White House luncheon attended by governors of fourteen states. The President told his guests he asked for discussion because of the deluge of reports that the Volstead act was not being enforced and because he saw in widespread disregard of the law a great danger to America. The upper photograph shows Mr. Harding with a group of the governors after the luncheon. Below are seen (left to right) Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty. These three men, whose duty it is to enforce the law, also attended the luncheon, as did Vice-President Coolidge.

SHADOW RESTS ON XMAS OF THE WHITES

Son Douglas Is Taken With Appendicitis on Eve of Celebration

Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White on North Orange street was a very different affair from the celebration planned. The Saturday before their son Douglas White was stricken with appendicitis, was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and underwent an operation. He came through it in excellent shape and by Monday when the guests, who had been invited for a family Christmas dinner arrived, was practically out of danger. The dinner was served and eaten as per schedule, but there was no social afternoon following, as Mr. and Mrs. White went instead to the hospital. His recovery is progressing and the surgeons promise he will be well enough to be moved to his home by the middle of next week. Robert White came home from Stanford to spend the Christmas holidays and has had a nice time driving around in the Ford coupe which was his mother's Christmas gift. He will leave to return to college Monday night.

Miss Kathryn Kitterman of 311 North Kenwood street, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Percy are planning a party at Mt. Baldy for over New Year's.

OBSERVATIONS

BY A GLENDALE OLD TIMER

I often wonder why mothers are not more solicitous about the books their sons and daughters read as well as about the movie plays they attend. But first they must make intimate companions of their children, so they will conceal nothing from mother's eyes. Many a mother commands her child to not read certain books and thinks that suffices, not realizing that perverse human nature most desires to do what it is ordered not to do. She should reason lovingly with her child and tell him or her just why the book is objectionable and put the child on his or her honor not to read it. When I think of the many good books there are in the world, sweet, wholesome and strengthening, without an evil thought or suggestion, I wonder why so much of this modern trash in books and magazines is attractive to the young mind. Miss Alcott's books, Jane Austen's stories of the Pilgrims, Rosa Nouchette Carey's novels of home life, some of Mrs. Alexander's, Frank H. Spearman's and literally hundreds of others like them are pure in tone and elevating in influence. "Never heard of them," many will say. But you can easily find them, in most large libraries. Some of our modern popular writers deal in literary poison to the young mind. They openly flout the laws of the land, particularly the 18th amendment, and refer scornfully to those who uphold it. Two conspicuous examples of this class of writers are Rupert Hughes and Gouverneur Morris. Both are brilliant writers and could be a power for good but prefer to degrade their literary talent by flippantly ridiculing the good in men and women. The latter of these two seems also, in many of his writings, to hold light by the virtue of women and by veiled hints intimates that most women have their price. Such infamous innuendoes are worse than the bold grossness of Fielding and Smollett, whose indecencies are set forth unequivocally, instead of lurking behind elegant English. Compare one of the modern effusions alluded to, with its veiled grossness and light estimate of womanly virtue with the pure, sweet sentiment in Dickens' Christmas Carol, or "Cricket on the Hearth." No characters in fiction shine with so resplendent a light as those of honest John, the carrier; Little Dot, his wife; Old Caleb and his sweet blind daughter. Read this story again and again, young folks, and it will do you good.

Most of those who witness the army salute, usually given by bringing the extended fingers of the right hand up to the cap visor and then returning the hand to its former position, do not know that this custom came down from the long, long ago, when monarchs were held to be superior beings by their subjects and received divine honors. Then the gesture meant that the subject shaded his eyes from the overpowering majesty that blazed from the monarch's countenance. Now it is merely a recognition given to a superior officer and he acknowledges it by a similar gesture, thereby differing from the old-time superior, who made no acknowledgement whatever of the salute. It is only when in training that the soldier gives the salute as prescribed by the manual of training. It is in four motions: Raising the hand to a horizontal position, then bringing it to the cap visor, next returning it to the first position, then dropping it again to the side. In all the motions all the fingers are extended.

If there are any former residents of Monticello, Platt Co., Illinois, in Glendale, they will remember the election for city officers in 1896. It was bitterly contested, but brought out Tommie Feist, a man of considerable prominence, a former resident, but a man with several bitter enemies, was running for alderman. The opposition brought some Tommie Feist, a man only about 5 feet in height, and possessed of no great amount of intelligence—just a man who harmed no one, helped no one, simply lived. The other candidate, Dr. Knott, made all manner of fun of his opponent and said if he were beaten by such a man he'd move out of the city at once. Just for a joke a few of his friends decided to vote for Tommie, merely to cut down the majority he (Knott) was sure to get. Just for a joke a few more decided on the same procedure. Just for a joke some more of them did likewise. None of these told the other fellows what they were going to do, unless in a bantering way that did not carry conviction, so each thought he was the only one who would play this great joke. But there were a few too many of these "only ones" and Knott was beaten. He didn't move out of town, just then, but he was most unmercifully chaffed. Tommie's sponsors were not overly elated at the success of their plot, but they carried the matter through handsomely, bought him a plug hat almost as tall as he was, initiated him into the mysteries of a dress suit, and made his induction into office a gala occasion. And Tommie was not such a bad choice after all. He was content to keep advised him to on city matters, and was a far better officer than many a man who is a great deal brighter than he, but supplements it all with rascality. There was a contest its amusing side, also. One of the candidates was a Mr. Hesler, station agent for the Illinois Central branch line, which connected Monticello with Champaign, to the southwest, and with Decatur 27 miles a day, each way. One, a freight and accommodation, was locally dubbed "Barney," in honor of the first conductor on the new line, Barney Saulsbury, who continued to guide the destinies of that train, for several years the only one on the line, to the day of his death. The other, a passenger, mail, baggage and express train of two cars, was called, in derision, "The Fast Mail." Mr. Hesler announced his candidacy the editor of the Democratic paper, a genial fellow and a humorous writer of great ability, gravely commented: "Now we'll see whether Hesler runs like Barney or the Fast Mail." He lost and the Bulletin announced "Hesler ran like Barney after all."

I sometimes wonder if should Ludendorf, Hindenburg, Von Gluck or Von Tirpitz, men whose names are synonymous with German cruelty and bestiality, come to America, to lead thousands of our people who think more of being amused than of patriotism, would not flock to hear them. Of course, as Christians, we ought not to encourage them to tell us of the brutalities they committed, and thus lead them to believe we condone such actions.

Many years ago when we had only wooden sidewalks it often became necessary, after repairs would no longer suffice, to build new ones. Then the street superintendent would proceed to tear up all the old walk that was to be replaced, even if there were several blocks of it and it would be weeks before the new one could be built. Then pedestrians would have to plough through the mud or dust for all those weeks and for the entire distance, when, by the exercise of a little common sense and accommodation, the tearing up process could have been delayed until just before the new work was to begin and then the street superintendent need tear up only a block or less of the old walk at a time. To be sure, his work would have been delayed somewhat and possibly the cost would have been a little more, but he was the servant of the people and they paid for the work. In all the years since that time road builders seem to have learned nothing in this respect. When Brand was improved south of Colorado a few weeks ago

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE CLUB MEETS AT CHURCH

The Christian Circle club met last evening at the Christian church. The ladies of the First Presbyterian church served the supper which was enjoyed by all. The First Methodist church had the largest number of girls present. Miss Florence Hamilton presided over the short business meeting. Miss Soper then led the Bible lesson which was one especially adapted for the New Year.

Both roadways were plowed up at the same time and were impassable for many days while the contractor was finishing another job, it is supposed. Why could not one road-way be improved at a time? You will notice that the P. E. company does not tear up both tracks at once in making its improvement, but takes them in turn so traffic may not be delayed. This company is working thus that the public may not be inconvenienced and that their earnings may not cease. The public is entitled to just the same consideration when highways are improved. In the district just south of Manchester avenue, Los Angeles, six miles of streets were plowed up weeks ago by the paving contractors and during the recent heavy rains were impassable for autos and almost so for pedestrians. It will be months before the improvements can be completed and this is the rainy season. Contractors showing such a brutal disregard of the public convenience ought never to be given work to do.

I often wonder at the shortsightedness of parents regarding the influence of their actions on the children who look to them for guidance. This was forcibly called to mind when I read with sadness of repeated rafflings by a Parent-Teacher association of a neighboring city, with school children pressed into service to sell the chances. Is such a course as this not likely to cause children to think that gambling is not wrong, when those whom they look up to as school teachers urge them to go out on the streets and engage in a work which is prohibited by the laws of the state. For it is gambling as defined by the statutes, and nothing else can be made of it. Granted that the cause for which it was done was a good one, yet that does not make it right. They were good women who did this and they were unselfishly giving of their time and money to promote a good cause, but does that alter the fact that children who engage in work of this kind are apt to think there is no harm in gambling, and when older may they not be led into practices of a like nature which will bring financial loss, shame and disgrace upon them and their families? The Good Book says we should avoid even the appearance of evil.

The men who collect old cans and other rubbish every two weeks seem to be harboring a perpetual grudge, so violently do they treat receptacles they empty. At one place on Lomita avenue a particularly strong and well-braced lard tub was used and on two different occasions this was thrown down so hard that it was considerably used up. The third attempt was successful, however, and the tub was completely wrecked. Just why this spitefulness is expended on these poor containers is a problem, but such roughneck performances should be prohibited by the city authorities.
